Date: Aug 09, 2027 Time: 08:01 AM, 08:02 AM
Duration: 2.00 Hrs Price: $209.00

Circle Heimaey Island in a boat and enjoy close-up views of the wildlife living on and around this largest of the islands in the archipelago. While circumnavigating Heimaey, you will learn about some of the historical events that influenced life there, including the devastating 1973 eruption of a volcanic fissure less than a mile from town. The entire island was volcanically formed eons ago, and today the barren landscape provides an ideal habitat for seabirds. Chances are, you will spot puffins, gannets and guillemots nesting in the high coastal cliffs. Puffins are so prevalent that disoriented fledglings often wander into town. It has become a tradition for children to release them back into the wild. Marine life is just as bountiful and you may well spot orcas, minke whales and beaked dolphins. Another highlight is entering Klettshellir, a sea cave known for its extraordinary acoustics, which a crew member will demonstrate by playing a musical instrument.

Duration: 2.00 Hrs Price: $139.00

OVERVIEW
Enjoy a panoramic drive around Heimaey Island and pause at the most notable attractions for a more in-depth understanding of the local lifestyle. Not far from Vestmannaeyjar, you will find Herjólfsdalur Valley, which forms a natural amphitheater where Iceland's largest annual outdoor festival is held. Volcanic activity formed the valley eons ago and continues to change the archipelago. For instance, an undersea eruption in 1963 created the neighboring island Surtsey, while another violent eruption in 1973 nearly leveled Vestmannaeyjar. You will be treated to a magnificent view of that latter volcano, known as Eldfell or "Fire Mountain," and the 6,000-year-old Helgafell volcano as you head back towards town. Lava from the most recent eruption created much of the land around the harbor, where you will see a replica 16th-century fort, Iceland's first birthing center and a stave church built in honor of Iceland's conversion to Christianity around the year 1000.

HIGHLIGHTS
- Take in the natural beauty of Heimaey while enjoying a panoramic drive around the island.
- View amphitheater-like Herjólfsdalur Valley, site of Iceland's largest outdoor festival.

You will begin at the harbor, which was nearly destroyed in the catastrophic 1973 volcanic eruption – the island's only eruption in recorded history. Hundreds of homes were engulfed in lava and hot ash, and the population of about 5,000 had to be evacuated. You will have the opportunity to walk across the now hardened lava field and see remnants of the houses that the eruption buried. GRU-007 PUFFINS OF MELRAKKAEY ISLAND
Date: Aug 10, 2027 Time: 07:01 AM, 07:02 AM
Duration: 1.50 Hrs Price: $169.00

OVERVIEW

Cruise to rocky Melrakkaey Island to for up-close views of a colony of puffins doing all the things that puffins naturally do. This includes nesting on the steep cliffs, swimming in the sea and perhaps even flying – much faster than you might expect. After a short walk from the pier, you'll reach and board a small tour boat that is ideal for sightseeing in hard-to-reach places. Craggy little Melrakkaey Island is one of those enviable spots, a protected bird refuge since 1972 where the only crowds ever seen have wings. While you'll likely spot other seabirds here – like guillemots, shags and kittiwakes – puffins are the star attractions. They're easy to identify with their bright orange beaks and penguin-like coloring; some people even call them "sea parrots" because of the shape of their beaks. Iceland is the breeding ground for most the world's Atlantic puffins, and Melrakkaey is one of their favorite spots. You'll see their nests on the precipitous rocky cliffs and surely spot puffins resting on the water between dives for the tasty small herring they love to eat. Your guide will share fascinating facts about the lifestyle of these charming birds during the excursion.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Walk to a tour boat near the cruise pier, ideally sized for reaching areas off limits to larger vessels.
- Cruise out to Melrakkaey, an island offshore from Grundarfjordur that's now a protected seabird refuge.
- Watch the resident colony of colorful puffins at their nests, diving for fish, and even flying around.
- Learn about the lifestyle and mating habits of these charming half-parrot, half-penguin creatures.
- Look for plenty of other sea birds here as well, including guillemots, shags and kittiwakes.

HELPFUL HINTS

- Wear warm, layered clothing; consider a windbreaker.
- Flat walking shoes with a non-slip sole are recommended for the boat.
- Bring a hat, sunglasses and sunscreen as needed.

PLEASE NOTE

Time on the water is approximately one hour. The walk from the ship to the tour boat dock is 15 minutes each direction and there are steps to negotiate getting on and off the boat. The tour is not available to wheelchair guests and those with mobility concerns are cautioned to carefully evaluate their personal level of ability before participating. Guests subject to seasickness should take proper precautions prior to tour start. Seating areas are limited, and the boat is open-air. Puffins begin leaving their nesting grounds from mid August onwards. As a result, puffin sightings may be limited and cannot be guaranteed on later season departures.

Duration: 4.50 Hrs Price: $289.00

OS

OVERVIEW
Discover the natural wonders in western Iceland, especially around Snæfellsjokull National Park, an area that has been famous since 1864, when Jules Verne used it as a setting in his classic science fiction novel "Journey to the Center of the Earth." The landscape looks eerily primeval, especially at Djupalonssandur, whose coastline is strewn with large rocks and the remains of a shipwrecked fishing trawler. Sailors once demonstrated their strength there by lifting boulders to show that they were fit to work on ships. While walking along the beach at Arnarstapi, you will observe birds nesting in the craggy lava formations. A noticeably different volcanic terrain awaits you in Búðir, whose beach features yellowish sand instead the pitch-black sand commonly found elsewhere. The modest Búðir church is also noteworthy. Painted black, it sits in a lava field blanketed with lush grass, and the contrast is stunning. An ice-capped volcano looms dramatically in the background.

HIGHLIGHTS
• Enjoy a panoramic drive through western Iceland's hauntingly beautiful volcanic terrain.
• Behold a primeval landscape of volcanoes, lava fields and rock-strewn beaches.
• Look for wildlife, birds in particular, that often nest on the coastal cliffs.
• Pause at Búðir church, a 19th-century wooden building that overlooks the sea.

HELPFUL HINTS
• Dress in weather-appropriate clothing.
• Wear flat comfortable walking shoes.

PLEASE NOTE
This tour includes approximately 30 minutes of walking on gravel and grass with approximately 20 steps to negotiate at the Djúpalónssandur beach viewing platform. It is not available to guests who utilize a wheelchair. Those guests with mobility concerns are cautioned to evaluate their personal level of ability and stamina. Casual, weather-appropriate, warm layered clothing and comfortable, flat, sturdy walking shoes are suggested.

ISF-007 A VISIT TO AN ABANDONED VILLAGE
Date: Aug 11, 2027 Time: 07:01 AM
Duration: 4.50 Hrs Price: $219.00

OS

OVERVIEW

Travel from Isafjordur to the Jökulfirdir Fjord by boat to visit a remote village deserted by all its residents over 60 years ago. The only way to get to Hesteyri is from the water; it's about a 70-minute ride. The tiny settlement never did have any roads leading to it, and no electricity or telephone links. What it did have – and still does – is an outstandingly picturesque setting amidst steep snow-dusted mountains and quiet, secluded coves. Notwithstanding the natural beauty, in the 1940s the 80 inhabitants decided they'd had enough, and by 1952 the last of them had moved away. Many of their structures still stand, little changed from how they were then. And since the village has been an ecologically protected area for decades, the native flora and fauna have had a field day. Hikers here often encounter Arctic foxes, seals, and birds of many types. You'll stroll around the eerily empty village with your guide, enjoying traditional Icelandic refreshments at a house where the doctor used to live. Don't miss this chance for what will certainly be an excursion unlike any other you take this voyage. It can get quite chilly out at sea, especially since the boat is only partially covered—so be sure to dress warmly for maximum comfort during your adventure.

HIGHLIGHTS

• Travel about 70 minutes by boat from Isafjordur to a tiny village along the Jökulfirdir Fjord. No one's home there.
• Enjoy an eerie tour of an entire settlement that was abandoned by its residents in 1952.
• Learn the unusual history of this place from your guide and share traditional Icelandic refreshments at the house where the village doctor once lived.
• Be on the lookout for foxes, seals, and sea birds; this has been a wild protected reserve for many years.

HELPFUL HINTS

• Wear weather-appropriate clothing including a water/wind proof jacket. It can be colder out on sea and the boat is only partially covered.
• Comfortable, flat walking shoes with a non-slip sole are recommended.
• Bring a hat, sunglasses and sunscreen as needed.

PLEASE NOTE

Duration: 2.00 Hrs Price: $279.00

OVERVIEW
Cruise into the beautiful Nuup Kangerlua fjord and immerse yourself in Greenland's breathtaking scenery—where dramatic mountains meet icy waters and wildlife roams freely in one of the world's last great wildernesses. As you approach uninhabited Sermitsiaq Island in the fjord, you will see a saddle-shaped mountain rising from the island's heart. When the weather warms and the snow and glaciers melt, a waterfall usually thunders off the mountain and into the crystal-clear waters of the fjord below. It is quite the sight, as is the wildlife that typically frequents this area. On a lucky day, you may see soaring eagles, seals, or most exciting of all, humpback whales. If they are present, the whales will no doubt steal the show, especially if one leaps from the water and lands with a tremendous splash. Scientists think whales breach the water to clean pests from their skin. However, they may do it just for fun.

OVERVIEW
Take a cruise through the crystalline fjords surrounding Narsaq, admiring ancient, blue-tinted icebergs that slowly float by. The tour vessel you'll be traveling on is ideally designed for navigating southern Greenland's waters – in this case, the two fjords known as Skovfjorden and Bredefjord, both deep blue and far enough inland to enable a calm ride. Cruising along, expect to see icebergs calved from nearby glaciers. They take every shape imaginable; like snowflakes, no two are alike. Some are jagged, others have steep walls, and still others resemble miniature mountains or giant mushrooms – all of them free-floating wherever the currents take them. Sailing past these ancient chunks of ice sparkling in the sun can be a mesmerizing experience. And a sonic one: at times, you'll likely be close enough to hear the ice pop and hiss as it melts away. These icebergs are old – far older even than the Vikings who sailed these same waters over 1000 years ago. Other than a few buildings, the terrain you're viewing probably didn't look very different thousands of years ago, either. Nature's been fully in charge here in this "green land" for a very, very long time.

HIGHLIGHTS

• Board a tour boat for cruising the two pristine, deep-blue fjords surrounding Narsaq.
• Skim the same waters sailed by Vikings over 1,000 years ago – and admire the even older icebergs that share the fjord with you.
• Watch the bergs float gently by, no two the same size or shape, and listen to them snap and hiss as they slowly thaw.

OVERVIEW

Cruise through the crystal-clear waters of the fjords surrounding Narsaq, admiring the ancient, blue-tinted icebergs that slowly float by. From the comfort of the boat's closed heated cabin, you will gaze out over massive chunks of ice bobbing in the sea that can look like sculptural works of art. Some of them are jagged, others have steep walls and still others resemble miniature mountains or giant mushrooms freely floating wherever the current takes them. Sailing past these whimsically shaped blocks of ice sparkling in the sun can be mesmerizing. At times, you might be close enough to hear the icebergs pop and hiss as they melt away. Be sure to keep an eye out for marine life, as well. Humpback whales are often spotted in these waters, and it can be quite the spectacle to see one breaching the water's surface and waving its fluke up and down before diving to feed.

It will be exhilarating to breathe in the fresh air and enjoy uninterrupted views of the natural beauty as the icebergs float by. No two are even remotely similar and like clouds their sculptural shapes can resemble most anything. The captain will describe the likely route that the icebergs took to reach Narsaq and where they are headed before melting completely. Greenland's youngest town. Established as a trading colony in 1830, it took till 1959 for the population to finally break 600 and achieve official town status. During the walk, you'll stop in at the Narsaq Museum where some of that history is presented. While locals here have hunted seals and raised sheep and cattle in the past, the primary mainstay today is fishing. You'll see that clearly on your walk through the open-air fish market full of stands offering salmon, Arctic char and snow crabs. But the biggest new boon to the economy is found in the mountains looming behind town: precious metals and rare, semi-precious tugtupite, a stone prized for its deep-red fluorescent color. The town shops offer jewelry made with this gem; its name derived from Intuit for "reindeer blood."

HIGHLIGHTS

- Enjoy a guided walk through a Greenland town where the icebergs sometimes outnumber the residents.
- Stroll among brightly-painted houses, their garden fences vestiges of days when sheep and cattle farming made this a land of "cowboys."
- Visit the fish market where the stands offer fresh-caught Arctic char, salmon and snow crabs.

JNS-002 TASTE OF GREENLAND
Date: Aug 16, 2027 Time: 01:30 PM, 03:00 PM, 04:30 PM
Duration: 1.00 Hrs Price: $149.00

OVERVIEW

Amble to the tasting venue and treat your palate to a sampling of traditional Greenlandic dishes made with local ingredients. It's a 10-minute walk from the pier to the venue, which has been gaining attention for its artfully prepared cuisine. Traditionally, this country's diet is heavy on game, fish and marine mammals as they provide much-needed protein needed to survive the harsh Arctic winters. However, the Gulf Stream blesses southern Greenland with a warmer climate, so Narsaq has more fresh ingredients available. In fact, while walking to the hotel, you'll see fenced gardens where produce like potatoes, carrots, lettuce, and strawberries thrive. Sheep farmers and cattle ranchers originally built these fences, but as their businesses waned, gardeners took over and the local cuisine became more diverse. The exact tasting menu served each day varies depending on what's freshest and most available, but it's always flavorful. Dishes sampled might include grilled Arctic char, roast loin of lamb, or honey-marinated breast of ptarmigan. In addition, expect colorful salads, inventive appetizers and dishes made with local flora such as crowberries, which flourish in cool temperatures, and the herb angelica, a celery relative. You'll relate, too.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Stroll past brightly-painted houses and produce gardens enroute to the Narsaq Hotel, where a sampling of Greenlandic cuisine awaits.
- Enjoy a tasting menu that varies daily to take advantages of what's freshest and in season.
- Nibble bites of dishes that might include Arctic char, loin of lamb, breast of ptarmigan – accompanied by colorful salads and inventive appetizers.
- Walk the town further following the tasting if you like, returning to the ship at your leisure.

HELPFUL HINTS

- Wear layered, weather-appropriate clothing.
- Flat, comfortable walking shoes and repellent are recommended.
- Bring a hat, sunglasses and sunscreen as needed.

PLEASE NOTE

This tour involves about 20 minutes of moderate walking. The tour is not recommended to guests utilizing wheelchair or those with mobility difficulties. Local escort will lead the way from the tender to the tasting venue. The hotel host will introduce the tasting menu on the spot.

PLEASE NOTE
While the greatest care has been taken to offer the finest services available, Oceania Cruises will not be held responsible for any event or omission during the time that guests are not on board the ship or its tenders. All arrangements for certain optional off-board activities, including air transportation, hotel accommodations, ground transfers and shore excursions, are made by Oceania Cruises with the suppliers of the services for the convenience of our guests. Each guest agrees not to hold Oceania Cruises, its owners, employees, agents or representatives liable, in the absence of its own negligence, for any loss, injury, expense or damage which results directly or indirectly from any act or omission, whether negligent or otherwise, of any person or firm which provides any goods or services in connection with any optional travel component or any other option that is available for purchase. Arrangements with independent contractors include but are not limited to services, products and transportation provided elsewhere than on board an Oceania Cruises vessel in connection with tours, whether arranged or organized by tour operators, travel agents or Oceania Cruises. Tours, including hotel accommodations and transportation by any vessel not owned or operated by Oceania Cruises or by air, rail or land, are not under the supervision and control of Oceania Cruises.
Notwithstanding that Oceania Cruises, at the guest's option, arranges air transportation, hotel accommodations, group transfers, shore excursions and other services with independent suppliers of the services, it should be understood that Oceania Cruises, being a "for profit entity," earns a fee on the sale of the optional services.
All Oceania Cruises shore excursion fares are per person, are subject to change and are subject to availability. Some tours are capacity controlled and may be withdrawn at any time without prior notice. While Oceania Cruises makes every effort to adhere to the specifics mentioned in each shore excursion description, circumstances may require otherwise. All shore excursion descriptions and information are subject to change without notice at Oceania Cruises' discretion. Oceania Cruises is not responsible or liable for typographical errors, omissions or misprints.
