Experience life in the days of the Klondike Gold Rush through activities that defined Alaska in the late 1890s. Upon arriving in Dredge Town, a replica of typical gold rush community, you will watch a sled dog demonstration and spend time interacting with puppies that will eventually be trained to pull sleds much like those that the prospectors used. For an idea of the challenging weather that the miners faced, you will suit up in a parka and enter an ice chamber where the temperature can reach a bone-numbing -40?. You will round out the Klondike experience by panning for gold and then weighing your pay dirt at the assayer's office to determine its value. A hearty barbecue lunch and the chance to make your own root beer from pure Alaska spring water follows. An enlightening tour of Dredge Town adds even more depth to your understanding of the mania that fueled the Klondike Gold Rush.

The bicycling portion of the tour will begin along the undeveloped coastline south of town. Here, nature reigns supreme. Forest-covered mountains rise in the distance, uninhabited islands dot the bays and wildlife flourishes. It's no wonder that Jean-Michel Cousteau's Ocean Futures Society recommends this tour as an inspiration to act responsibly for the protection of our planet's vital ecosystems. This part of Alaska has changed little over the centuries and the intention is to retain the natural beauty in its pristine condition. You will enjoy a different perspective of Sitka's natural wonders by walking through Tongass National Forest, the largest national forest in America. Date: Aug 14, 2023 Time: 09:00 AM

Duration: 2.50 Hrs Price: $105.00

OVERVIEW

Browse Sitka's finest galleries while watching local artists create imaginative works of art in silver, wood, ceramic and glass. Once known as the "Paris of the Pacific," Sitka claims to have had the first opera house, performing arts theater and grand piano on North America's west coast. Sitka still zealously supports its artists, many of whom you will see at work in the cultural district. As you meander through the galleries, you will most likely see artists creating magnificent pieces in glass. Some of their techniques are similar to those used by the Italian artisans on the Venetian island of Murano, although the Sitka artists use kilns not roaring furnaces. If you feel inspired to work with glass yourself, ask one of the artists to get you started. It's a common request, so don't be shy. As you will see in many of the finished works, the inspiration was Sitka's natural beauty.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Watch artists masterfully creating works of art in various media.
- See how the artists emulate the glassmakers in Italy.
- Try your hand at glassmaking, if the occasion arises.
- Purchase fine art from the galleries, if you choose.

On the way there, you can admire the majestic scenery and look for wildlife such as breaching whales. The crew will offer valuable tips on how to fish with circle hooks, work the sandy flats and jig in deeper waters.
