Discover the distinguishing characteristics of tequila and mezcal during a tasting that pairs these distilled spirits with traditional Mexican tacos. Although similar to tequila, which can only be made from Blue Weber agave, mezcal can be made from any agave plant, so there is a much greater variety of tastes. However, mezcal typically has a signature smoky flavor that comes from cooking the heart of the agave in underground pits lined with hot rocks. The tequila expert will explain each step-in detail so you will come away with an understanding of the artisanal processes. The tequilas and mezcals will be served with a sampling of tacos that will perfectly complement them. Although the menu varies, it will likely include fried tacos, Yucatan-style barbecued pork tacos and tacos de guisado, which are filled with meaty stews. To enhance your understanding of everything you consume, the chef will describe their origins.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Chef-Led tours are never more than 18 guests and always led by the chef instructor onboard.
- Discover the differences between tequila and mezcal, which are both made from agave plants.

Date: Dec 06, 2025 Time: 08:30 AM

Duration: 3.25 Hrs Price: $99.00

OVERVIEW

Enjoy tropical Roatan by observing iguanas in a protected zoo-like habitat and then visiting an eco-park to interact with butterflies and tropical birds. Depart from the pier and enjoy a leisurely narrated drive through Roatan's lush countryside, which supports a diversity of wildlife. Few tropical animals are as iconic as the iguana, which you will see in abundance at the Iguana Hideaway. It's an excellent venue to observe these prehistoric-looking reptiles, as iguanas are threatened on Roatan from loss of habitat and being captured for the pet trade. Watch them basking in the sun, lounging in trees and munching on vegetables. Some of the iguanas are over three feet long, and while they may look imposing they're really quite passive. Continuing on, you'll make your way to the Mayan-Eden Eco-Park for a visit to the butterfly and tropical bird section there. Take a magical walk through an enclosed area that contains a wide variety of local butterflies. Learn about some of Honduras' most vibrant varieties of butterflies and about this delicate creature and its intricate lifecycle. The garden is also home to tropical trees, plants and exotic rescued birds and animals. Hummingbirds dart happily from blossom to blossom and you'll no doubt see colorful parrots flying free. On your way back to the pier you will pass through the small capital city of Coxen Hole, once home to the pirate John Cox.

MNT-003 MONTECRISTI BY CHIVAS

Date: Dec 12, 2025 Time: 09:00 AM, 02:00 PM
Duration: 3.00 Hrs Price: $189.00

OVERVIEW

Enjoy a fun-filled ride via local Chivas Bus to the heritage sights and shops of Montecristi. You've probably seen the Chivas before, molded into those adorable miniature ceramic buses sold at craft shops, complete with baskets of chickens and colorful produce strapped to their roof. But the actual-size Chivas Bus is Ecuador's vibrant answer to mass transit. And it's a bouncy, down-to-earth, wonderful ride. Chivas routes crisscross the country, offering reasonably-priced transportation between the towns along the coast and the interior. Your Chivas ride today will be a convoy-style transfer to inland Montecristi, with a local band riding atop one of the buses as the en route entertainment. Beautiful little Montecristi retains the atmosphere and faded elegance of its Spanish heritage – and is also the authentic home of what has long been known as the "Panama hat," misnamed years ago by Teddy Roosevelt during his inspection tour of the Panama Canal construction site. With free time to wander Montecristi once you arrive, you'll see many of these dapper woven toppers offered by the artisans whose stalls line the central plaza. Plenty of tempting straw baskets, jewelry and other colorful handicrafts, too.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Travel to Montecristi like a native Ecuadorian – aboard a rustic, colorful, wooden-seated Chivas Bus.
- Enjoy the scenic roundtrip journey, with a local band riding atop one of the buses in your convoy.
- Take free time to soak up the character and browse for top-quality crafts in Montecristi.
- Wander the main square market where Panama hats that many consider the world's most authentic are made and sold.

HELPFUL HINTS

- Wear weather-appropriate clothing.
- Flat, comfortable walking shoes are recommended.
- Bring a hat, sunglasses and sunscreen as needed.

PLEASE NOTE

The Chivas is a local form of transportation, and though great fun, has a high step to enter, wooden seats, no public address system, and is not air-conditioned. This tour is basically a roundtrip transfer to Montecristi. Once there, you will have time to explore the town on your own.

SLA-001 TRUJILLO AND THE TEMPLES OF THE SUN AND MOON

Date: Dec 15, 2025 Time: 09:00 AM

Duration: 4.00 Hrs Price: $149.00

OVERVIEW

Take a spin through the city Pizarro founded in 1534 and visit a pair of immense adobe temples built by the Mochica civilization a dozen centuries earlier. Along the south bank of the Moche River, the two monumental “huaca” temples stand weathered and silent in the desert, vestiges of a culture that flowered here between 1 and 650 AD. The smaller of the two terraced pyramids, the Temple of the Moon, is built of some fifty million hand-made adobe bricks. Yet it’s dwarfed by the adjacent Temple of the Sun, the largest mud-brick structure in all the Americas – nearly four football fields long by two wide, and originally topping out at over 130 feet. During a guided visit, encounter vividly painted murals and reliefs that reveal some of the secrets to this long-closed chapter of history. Later, your drive through colonial Trujillo will feel modern by comparison, despite the fact the city’s skyline dates back to a time when the New World was still new and delivering vast riches to its conquerors back in Europe. With the impressive Plaza de Armas square at its heart, these streets are a showplace of brilliantly-painted buildings decorated with wrought iron balconies and grills.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Visit the site where the largest mud-brick structures in the Americas stand, remnants of a lost culture.
- Walk the rampways and terraces of the Temples of the Moon and Sun, unused for some 1,200 years.
- Gain insights on the Moche culture that once thrived here from vibrantly painted wall murals and reliefs.
- See the sights of Trujillo, a well-preserved colonial city set against green and brown Andean foothills.

- Admire must-see landmarks like the Trujillo Basilica, Libertador Hotel, Casa Orbegoso and other splendid period mansions.

- Flat, comfortable shoes are essential.
- Be sure to bring a hat, sunglasses and sunscreen.

Comfortable footwear is a must for negotiating the ramps and stairs at the temples. Visited areas are going through a continuous process of excavation.

As you meander through the archaeological complex, you will discover its importance and the sophistication of the Moche civilization that flourished here until the 9th century. nobles that will most capture your imagination. Your guide will help interpret the meaning of the intricate decorative reliefs and patterns carved into their fortress-like exterior walls and ceremonial interior courtyards. Oddly, you'll find the most important of the residences' courtyards devoid of ornamentation. Modern archaeologists theorize that these unadorned private spaces were in fact bedecked with showy weavings and fabrics, possessions the Chimu people prized even more than gold and silver. Another intriguing aspect of Chan Chan is the 500-year-plus age range of its buildings – the result of the Chimu's habit of abandoning each palace once its noble owner died, constructing a new one next door. Imagine doing that in the modern world!

HIGHLIGHTS

- Drive up the Peruvian coast by coach to the UNESCO-listed ruins of Chan Chan, once a city of 60,000.
- Enjoy a guided walking tour of this capital of the Chimu civilization, abandoned after six centuries until the Incas conquered it in 1470.

OVERVIEW

Create a Moche-themed notebook out of recycled materials while learning about the Moche culture. A short but immensely scenic drive will bring you to one of the river valleys where the Moches flourished from the 1st through 8th centuries. Their descendants still live in the area, and one of them will greet you in their native Muchik language and with a performance on a conch-shell musical instrument known as a pututo. During the workshop that follows, you will make a hand-bound notebook using recycled supplies. An instructor will suggest adding designs that are inspired by the Moche lifestyle. The designs might include fish and sea lions, as marine animals were often depicted on the walls of ancient Moche temples because the people lived along rivers that emptied into the ocean. Present-day Moches create and sell notebooks to supplement their income, but you may keep yours as a souvenir.

- Use recycled materials to create a notebook much like the ones the local Moches make .
- Learn about the Moche culture that was prominent during the 1st through 8th centuries .
- Keep your notebook as a souvenir .

SLA-005 THE CEVICHE EXPERIENCE

Date: Dec 15, 2025 Time: 11:30 AM
Duration: 3.50 Hrs Price: $219.00

OVERVIEW

Watch a master chef prepare Peru's iconic cured fish delicacy, then see local fishermen show off their skills piloting reed "caballito" fishing boats. Life here in coastal Huanchaco seems to revolve around the beach, the surf and especially the fish. That last item is first on your agenda as you make for a waterfront restaurant where an award-winning chef will demonstrate how to prepare the town's most famous dish: ceviche. Although its precise origin is hotly disputed, ceviche has deep roots in this region. In pre-Columbian times, the raw fish was cured in maize juice; today it's marinated in lime juice, a fruit brought here by the conquistadors. Recipe variations abound, but here in Peru, ceviche is traditionally made with sea bass or sole spiked up with diced red onions, habanero peppers and chopped cilantro and accessorized with cold sweet potatoes and cob corn. After tasting your chef's accomplishment, head for the beach for some seahorse-watching. That's what the famous local totora-reed fishing boats look like as they bob in the surf on their fishing missions – and the sight of these rustic vessels standing upright in the sand to dry is an image synonymous with Huanchaco, and time-honored Peruvian traditions.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Travel by coach to relaxed, beachside Huanchaco – home to reed boats and ocean-fresh ceviche.
- Learn some of the trade secrets as a local restaurant chef assembles Peru's signature cured-fish specialty for your enjoyment.

- Watch Huanchaco fisherman demonstrate their unique skills at piloting traditional "seahorse" surf-fishing boats.
- Capture National Geographic-worthy snaps of these pointed-end reed vessels drying along the sand.

HELPFUL HINTS

- Wear casual, weather-appropriate clothing.
- Flat, comfortable walking shoes are recommended.
- Bring a hat, sunglasses and sunscreen as needed.

PLEASE NOTE

This tour includes approximately one hour of moderate walking, with some steps involved. The tour is not available to wheelchair guests and those with mobility concerns are cautioned to carefully evaluate their personal level of ability before participating.

SLA-003 COLONIAL HOUSES

Duration: 3.00 Hrs Price: $169.00

OVERVIEW

Travel to colorful, landmark-filled Trujillo and be introduced to the opulence of its Colonial-era and Republican-era mansions. This city embraced grand style fervently during this chapter of its history, ensconced in the new wealth of the New World. Yet most of these finely aged facades retain a quiet, sober dignity as well. Behind the painted stucco and artistically wrought iron grills and gates, the interiors of these great homes were luxurious private worlds – well-appointed in nearly every detail. You'll see this clearly as you visit Casa Urquiaga, now Peru's central reserve bank headquarters, still showcasing the ex-mansion's formidable collection of furniture, art and pre-Columbian ceramics. And again at the Casa de la Emancipación, a beautifully restored republican home where the document declaring Trujillo's independence from Spain was signed in 1820. Visiting the 1855 Italian Neo-Renaissance Palacio Itúregui, you'll find yourself mingling with the members of Club Central, a tony private gathering place sporting three internal courtyards ringed by ornate columns, floored in marble and detailed with gold ceiling moldings. At still another of Trujillo's prestigious old addresses, the Casa Aramburú Jimeno, you'll enjoy a refreshing cocktail before the drive back to your ship.
